

Consultation Calendar

This Calendar will help all employees know about consultation with local people that has already happened on specific issues and also future consultation that is planned. The intended outcome is that we don't re-invent the wheel or ask the public the same questions the following week from a different department. If you have already conducted a consultation exercise, you will already know from your own experience that people are much more likely to respond if they have not recently been asked the same or similar questions. In addition, contact details for specific pieces of work will provide opportunities for learning about different consultation methods and exchange of information across the Council. Hopefully, this Calendar will help things become more coordinated. Clearly, this will be most useful if everyone helps to keep the document up-to-date. If you are planning a consultation event, or have already completed one that is not shown here, please contact Beenash on 433883 or Louisa on 433879 with details.

The Consultation Calendar begins with 2007 and also provides information for previous years. Each entry includes a start date, and a separate completion date (when appropriate). The name of the service appears first, followed by the title of the consultation exercise, and a brief explanation of the aims and methods used. Contact details for further information are included in the right hand column. A summary of on-going consultation exercises carried out by different services is included at the end of the calendar.

If you want to search for a particular piece of consultation, for example "Parks", you can use the search facility within Microsoft Word to scan through the whole document and bring you to the relevant section. To do this, click on Edit, then Find, type in the word and press enter.
